Prologue

In the Year of the Patriot . . .

We experienced the new and remembered the traditions of the old. We faced the challenge of a new era and met the task of paving the way for ourselves and those who will follow. We, from our own experiences, found the plane on which to combine the ideas of tomorrow with the traditions of today.

Because we were searching for the best combination of old and new, in a sense we were twentieth century patriots. And as patriots we could not always succeed, but we did have the courage to go forward.

Daughters of Virginia Intermont, instilled with this same courage and armed with the strength, pride and trust of responsible womanhood, lift up your eyes to meet the demands of the future.

And remember that though we go our separate ways, our paths will continue to be guided by the inspiration and knowledge symbolized by our tower. "V. I. love us forever."

Betsy Smotherman brings a motion to the floor of the weekly S.G.A. meeting as Susan Alligood and Ellen Worthy preside.

Best Combination Of Old And New

During the Year of the Patriot we observed traditions such as the Song Contest, the Tug of War and Dink Day.

At the same time we sought new areas of responsibility through a reorganization of the Student Government Association. The creation of new S.G.A. offices provided additional students an opportunity to represent the student body in an attempt to effect desired changes. To assure each girl a voice in student affairs, hall presidents, representing the girls from their respective floors, attended weekly S.G.A. meetings where ideas and suggestions presented by the hall presidents were considered.

Thus student life became more reflective of the ideas of the individual student.

Our Student Government officers are caught in a lighter moment. Top, president, Susan Alligood; vice-president, Delores Reynolds; treasurer, Joy Aldrich; judicial coordinator, Judy Craddock; secretary, Susie Smart; parliamentarian, Ellen Worthy.

Beth Owen contributes to the success of "Dink Day" as she leads freshmen in a verse of "We Love You Sophomores."

An exciting new dance company, The American Folk Ballet, came to Virginia Intermont on February 20. Under the direction of Miss Burch Mann they captivated us with an entirely new concept in American dance.

Challenge Of A New Era

V.I. students board buses which will take them to local churches.

New emphasis on the spiritual and cultural life of the students focused attention on the challenge of a new era, a challenge which we were encouraged to accept.

The ministry of local churches contributed to the spiritual growth of the students. At dinners sponsored by the churches early in the school year we became aware of opportunities for service through the local church. We were assigned Church Parents and transportation to services was provided by the churches.

The ministry of the churches was complemented on campus by the activities of the Religious Board. Composed of the officers of each religious club, the Board sponsored the traditional Monday night dormitory devotions, Christmas vespers and the Children's Christmas Party.

Throughout the Year of the Patriot the Humanities Series brought to our campus significant cultural opportunities. Speakers from the fields of archaeology, anthropology, education, journalism, literature and fashion encouraged us to think independently, to welcome responsibility and to prepare ourselves for the challenge of a new era. Outstanding artists and artistic groups such as Miss Helena Costa, the Chamber Symphony of Philadelphia and the Jose Molina Spanish Dancers were presented.

Realization Of The Feminine Role

Twiggy (Susie Smart) and Michael (Priscilla Plummer) make a guest appearance at our Halloween party.

While maintaining loyalty to tradition, the Patriot seeks innovation. Social activities this year reflected this attitude as Phi Beta, Delta Psi Omega and Phi Rho Pi initiated Greek weekend. This long anticipated event was noted for its semi-formal dance where couples did the "Funky Broadway" to the music of the Drifters.

Although there were new social activities, there were traditional ones, too, which made V.I.'s social calendar complete. The President's Tea in the early fall gave the new students an opportunity to become acquainted with the faculty and administration. Then as the holidays approached, the formal dinner dance at the Martha Washington Inn provided dancers with a memorable "Christmas for Ole Time's Sake."

The Freshmen made their customary class debut as sponsors of the Sweetheart Dance in February. By March our parents were so interested in our activities during the past seven months that many attended the H₂O Show and the Father-Daughter Dance highlighting Parents' Weekend.

Toward the end of April, even though most thoughts were turning toward graduation in May, we snatched a few precious moments for the grand finale—Publications Weekend. The three days' flurry of activities ranged from Little Anthony and the Imperials in concert to a powder puff football game between the staffs of the Intermont and the Cauldron. With the weekend's conclusion, everyone looked forward to May Court and graduation—the perfect close to an unforgettable blend of the old and the new.

Meet The Demands Of The Future

Parents and friends gather to congratulate V.I. graduates.

At Virginia Intermont academic excellence is emphasized. Courses are designed to provide a well rounded education directed toward intellectual, social and physical development which will enable students to take their place in a modern world.

The close teacher-student relationship encourages an exchange of ideas which is rewarding, and students approach graduation with the realization that they have experienced intellectual growth.

Dedication

One can never look into the future and say with certainty what is ahead. Doubtless the person whom we now honor did not realize thirteen years ago when she was described as the "essence of V. I." that someday she would be guiding other Virginia Intermont girls toward achievements similar to her own.

Chosen the Ideal Athlete in 1955, she is today still actively involved in all phases of athletics at V. I., from bowling to lifesaving to the H₂O Club.

In appreciation of her influence we the staff dedicate the 1968 Intermont to Mrs. Don Smith.

"Patriotism depends as much on mutual suffering as on mutual success, and it is by that experience of all fortunes and all feelings that a great national character is created."

PRESIDENT
DR. FLOYD V. TURNER

Dr. Turner

The early and lasting impression of Dr. Turner's gracious friendliness gives added warmth to our days at Virginia Intermont. With his keen interest in our achievement, he does his best to secure for us benefits which we sometimes fail to recognize. Dr. Turner is always among the first to congratulate us on our accomplishments. He is eager to listen to our ideas and to offer his assistance and constructive criticism.

Dr. Turner received his Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts degrees from the University of Kansas City and his Ed.D. degree from George Peabody College. Before coming to Virginia Intermont in 1956, he served as Academic Dean of Belmont College in Nashville, Tennessee.

Under his leadership significant progress was made during 1967-68. Early in the fall renovation of the gymnasium was completed, with the addition of new office space for physical education instructors. In October, Harrison-Jones Memorial Chapel was completed with an adjacent parking lot to accommodate approximately two hundred cars. The expansion of the stables to allow for an additional number of boarding horses has greatly enhanced the equitation program.

Of vital importance to the future of Virginia Intermont was the decision of the Board of Trustees to approve a plan to begin moving toward conversion to a four year college.

Intermont is justly proud of Dr. Turner for his contribution to the civic life of Bristol, as well as for his position on various educational boards. He is past chairman of the Bristol, Virginia Board of Education, a member of the Kiwanis Club, the Bristol Chamber of Commerce, and the Board of Directors of the Bristol Boys' Club. Dr. Turner is a member of Phi Delta Kappa Fraternity and has been listed in Who's Who in America and Who's Who in American Education.

Dr. and Mrs. Turner with daughter Vicki and son John.

Wanda Knoff, Carol Shortt, and Debbie Maddocks chat with Dr. Turner outside the student center.

Administration

Miss Hart holds membership in the Southern College Personnel Association and the National Association of Women Deans and Counselors. She also serves on the Board of Directors of the Bristol Mental Health Clinic. Dean Hart received the Bachelor of Science degree from Winthrop College and the Master of Religious Education degree from Southern Baptist Theological Seminary. She has also done additional study at East Tennessee State University.

Dr. Norman L. Nunn became Academic Dean of Virginia Intermont College on July 1, 1967. Before coming to V. I., Dr. Nunn was Assistant Dean of Admissions and Records at Tennessee Technological University. He received the Bachelor of Music degree and the Master of Music degree from the Kansas City Conservatory of Music and served as Chairman of the Music Department at Park College, Parkville, Missouri, for five years. In 1964 he received his Ph.D. degree from Florida State University. Dr. Nunn has been elected to the following honorary and professional organizations: Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, Phi Delta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, and the National Association of Teachers of Singing.

In the area of guidance Mr. Glass provides a valuable service for Virginia Intermont students. In addition to supplying information of a vocational and educational nature, he helps students to understand themselves better through interpretation of tests, evaluation of other personal data, and through analysis of attitudes expressed. He then encourages them to employ this understanding of themselves in decision making.

Miss Frogge is in charge of publicity for all college activities. She also is in charge of the Cultural Development Program, which includes the humanities lecture series, the humanities concert series, college holiday tours, and the Virginia Intermont European Program.

The responsibilities of the business manager are many. All purchasing for the college, the payroll and all expenses of the college are handled by Mr. Snodgrass and his associates in the business office. Additionally, the Bank of Intermont is operated through the business office for the convenience of students.

Coordinating the activities of all religious organizations on campus is the responsibility of Mrs. Willett. She directs the publicity on campus for all religious activities such as the Monday night devotions, vesper services, and the annual Appalachian Preaching Mission, which is attended by many students. She also works to strengthen the relationship between the religious organizations on campus and corresponding church groups in the city.

As Director of Development, Mr. Styles is responsible for all fund raising activities involving financial support from foundations, corporations, parents, alumnae, and other friends of the college. Under his direction an executive secretary to the Alumnae Association who is employed by the college maintains contact with more than 6,000 alumnae around the world through a quarterly alumnae magazine, an annual Alumnae Weekend, a national alumnae organization, and alumnae chapters in various cities. Mr. Styles also is responsible for the summer program of the college which involves the use of campus facilities by selected groups for conferences and programs.

As Director of Admissions, Mrs. Crumley interviews prospective students and candidates for admission and handles all correspondence concerning their admission. She also maintains correspondence with high school officials concerning the enrollment and progress of their students at Virginia Intermont.

Staff

The services performed by the staff help to make life at Virginia Intermont College run more smoothly. The physical well being of the student body is the concern of Dr. Green and Mrs. Jarrett. The preparation of food, maintenance of buildings, and operation of the book shop are services which we have come to appreciate.

Similarly the assistance offered to students and faculty by the library staff is of great value. The new student who is unfamiliar with the library is given individual attention by a member of the library staff, and the faculty is benefited by periodic listings of newly purchased books.

The details handled by the secretarial staff are numerous and contribute to the smooth administration of the college.

To our residence counselors, who reside and counsel with us on a round-the-clock basis, we express our appreciation. Our dorm mothers challenge us daily to become more than we are, to live within the context of a new group, to follow the standards and ideals of the college community, and to make a genuine contribution to dormitory life. Their highest challenge to us lies in their own daily exemplification of these personal expectations.

The English Department strives to help students understand the development of the English language and to express themselves clearly and correctly.

A study of expository writing was designed to teach freshmen to write with originality, clarity, and conciseness. A critical study of fiction, poetry, and drama led them to analyze style and content and to present their analysis in critical themes. The proper method of writing a research paper was emphasized during the second semester.

The sophomores' interest in English literature was stimulated by the Sunday afternoon art exhibits from the C. Ernest Cooke Collection, which each week paralleled the period being discussed in class.

Classes in journalism presented opportunities for a study of mass communications media. Practical experience was provided for journalism students as they wrote for the Cauldron.

Courses in religion related the history of the Christian religion and introduced the student to the world's other great religions.

Students in religion classes attended a Jewish synagogue in a group, and each student was encouraged to attend three churches outside her own faith.

Courses in ethics, logic, and philosophy helped students to develop powers of reasoning and challenged them to seek answers to religious and philosophical questions.

Foreign Language

Communication is perhaps the most important aspect of living with others.

The Foreign Language Department at Virginia Intermont aims to give each student a basic knowledge of a foreign language. Courses in German, Spanish, and French exposed students to linguistic experiences, emphasizing grammar, composition, and pronunciation.

To facilitate work in the classroom, tapes were employed in the language lab. Additionally, small conversational groups worked together to improve pronunciation and understanding of the language.

Social Science

Studies in western civilization and American history help students to become aware of the development of some of the forces which actuate domestic and international events, while political science courses dealing with both national and local government present a detailed study of the American federal system. Students are encouraged to do parallel reading of material which will enhance classroom work.

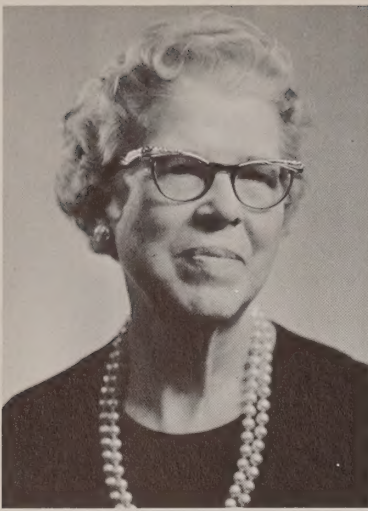

Such courses as retailing, marketing, and principles of economics—which deals with production, distribution and consumption of goods—help students to understand the American economic system.

Psychology and sociology courses enable students to study both the individual and his society. Such films as "Focus on Behavior" and "The Conscience of a Child" give psychology students a better understanding of behavior and of the development of attitudes and values.

In December psychology students accepted the invitation of the Southwestern State Hospital in Marion, Virginia, to present a Christmas program. Corky Armstrong directed a skit, "The Story of Christmas," and a chorus of students sang traditional Christmas carols.

Such topics as interfaith marriages, interracial marriages, and birth control challenge sociology students to study carefully and to report in formal papers the results of their research.

Students in the Social Science Department are inspired to seek a greater understanding of society and of forces that shape the world.

Physical Education

The Virginia Intermont Physical Education Department offers a wide range of courses including swimming, horseback riding, skiing, and basketball.

An active intramural program enhances the physical education curriculum and promotes good sportsmanship through healthy competition.

The development of a healthy, well-coordinated body is the aim of the Physical Education Department. Through participation in these activities and through courses in personal health, the V. I. student not only becomes physically fit but also develops a true sense of sportsmanship.

Art

Ruthanne Hendricks puts the finishing touches on a self-portrait.

Through major programs in fine and applied art, students prepare for careers in fashion and interior design, commercial art, advertising, and teaching. The aim of the Art Department is to develop the talent of each individual and to teach her how to express her reaction to the world around her.

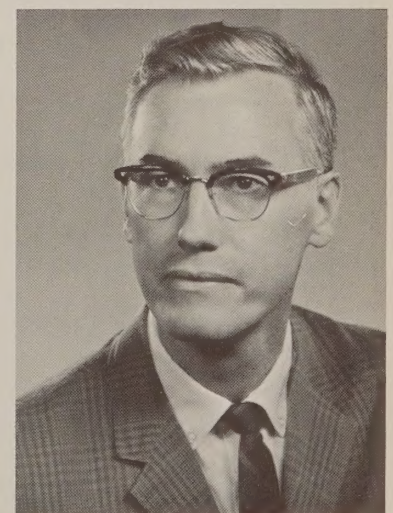

During the year many exhibits were held in the art gallery. "Summer '67" was a one man show in oils by Mr. C. Ernest Cooke of the V. I. faculty. Virginia Intermont students showed oils, water colors, prints, drawings, and sculpture. A unique display of student environmental art evoked favorable comment from both students and faculty.

"The Chair," a historical study of the development of chair designs—from early Egyptian to modern—was shown through the courtesy of the Virginia Museum of Fine Arts. A number of individual shows were presented during the year including a show of prints, drawings and sculpture by V. I. art instructor Mr. Tedd Blevins. East Tennessee State University faculty members, Mr. John Shrader and Mr. John Steele, each had a one man show. Mr. Shrader exhibited large sculpture consisting of welded metal structures expressing man's concern for life—a confused state—placing man in a strange relation to society, and colored creative photographs of his work. Mr. Steele exhibited prints.

Three members of the faculty of Cumberland College, Williamsburg, Kentucky, exhibited drawings, paintings, and prints.

In order to meet the strenuous demands of the business world, the Secretarial Department directed its efforts toward training students to be efficient secretaries, stenographers, and office assistants.

Introductory courses in shorthand, typing, and business math were offered for students with no previous knowledge of the subjects. For advanced students, courses in transcription, accounting, business law, medical transcription, and business communications were offered.

For the student in the Secretarial Department practical experience is vitally important. Such experience was gained as students worked in campus offices. Medical secretarial students also worked in the offices of various Bristol physicians.

Home Economics

To develop within the student practical skills and technical knowledge and to provide experience in the homemaking arts is the aim of the Home Economics Department.

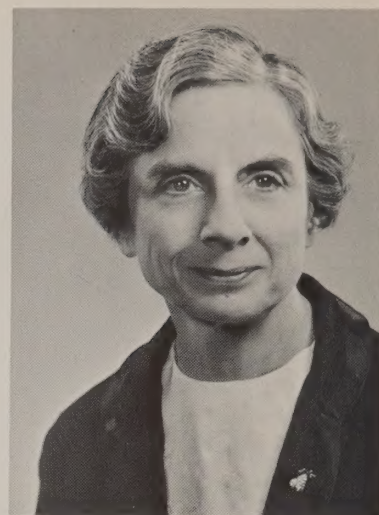

The importance of the well-being of the family is emphasized through such courses as textiles and clothing, family health, clothing construction, and home management.

Field trips to Volunteer Textiles in Bristol, Tennessee, and Beaunit fiber plant in Elizabethton, Tennessee, provided valuable information about fabrics and clothing construction.

In the spring the foods class prepared the food for and served as hostesses at a tea for the faculty and residence counselors. Such practical experience helps to prepare girls for their role as homemakers.

Speech and Drama

Public speaking, debate, oral interpretation of literature, theatre practice, theatre management, and beginning and advanced acting are among the courses offered by the Speech and Drama Department.

Speech students participated in debate tournaments at Maryville College and at Appalachian State University. In March a forensic tournament was held on the Virginia Intermont campus.

Combining talent with techniques learned in class, drama students bring to the stage excellent productions in many areas of drama. In November drama students presented A Period of Adjustment and entertained Bristol area elementary school children with Winnie the Pooh. In December they performed three one-act plays—Hello from Bertha, The Stronger, and Sorry, Wrong Number. At Separate Tables, presented in March, captivated the audience with its acting and production set.

Paige Scott practices for her spring recital.

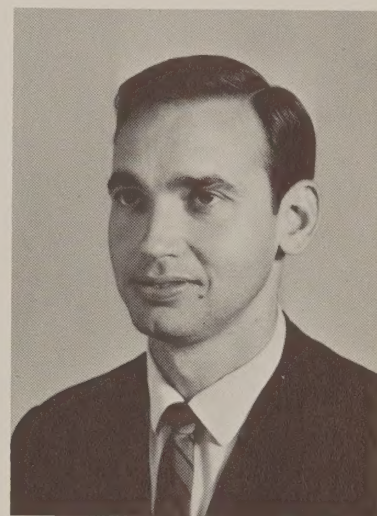

Of much interest in the department this year were the sessions in which students performed the Chorale Preludes of Walcha, the contemporary German Composer, under whom Mr. Maupin has studied. Each student in the performances played four or five preludes.

Each sophomore presented a recital of thirty to forty-five minutes in applied music. Voice majors Judy Nickell and Rita Routzong and piano majors Paige Scott and Delores Reynolds presented spring recitals.

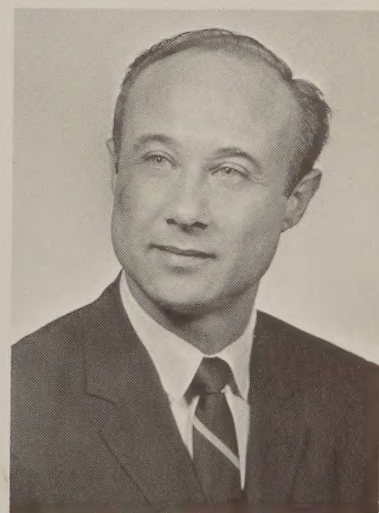

In addition to voice, organ, piano, and harpsichord, courses in music appreciation and music history enriched the programs of many students.

Piano major Delores Reynolds chose the organ as the second instrument for her recital.

Miss Ideal Intermont

Miss Dora Susan Smart

Detroit, Michigan

To be chosen Miss Ideal Intermont is one of the highest honors a student can receive. Selected by an alumnae committee on the basis of character, leadership, scholastic achievement, school spirit, personality and attractiveness, the honoree represents the "essence of Intermont." This year's choice, Miss Susan Smart, serves as secretary of the Student Government Association and as a member of the 1968 May Court. She was chosen a torchbearer during both her freshman and sophomore years and was the recipient of the Dean Marguerite Pflug Scholarship. Virginia Intermont can be justly proud of Miss Ideal Intermont of 1968.

Torchbearers

In keeping with the tradition begun almost a quarter of a century ago, the 1968 INTERMONT wishes to honor fourteen girls who, during their stay at Virginia Intermont, have excelled in leadership. They were chosen by the student body not only for their accomplishments here but for their promise of achievement in the future. Among the Torchbearers this year are three executive officers of SGA, two class presidents, one song contest leader, the president of the Athletic Association, and several talented musicians.

"Who puts the spirit into V.I.? Sophomores!"

Somewhere, V. I., we'll find new heights to climb,
As we go on, searching for lights to guide,
Looking ahead into the unknown day,
Striving to find each of our separate ways.
Someday, when we look back in time,
We'll see how V. I. has strengthened our mind.

Loyal to our Father, loyal to our friends,
V. I. C. forget us not; we'll be true to the end.
Faithful to our country, together we will stand,
Loyal to our Father and our fellowman.

V. I. C., V. I. C., listen now to our calling.
Build our hopes, lift our eyes to thy beautiful tower.
Symbol of hope may you ever stand, as your chimes
tell others

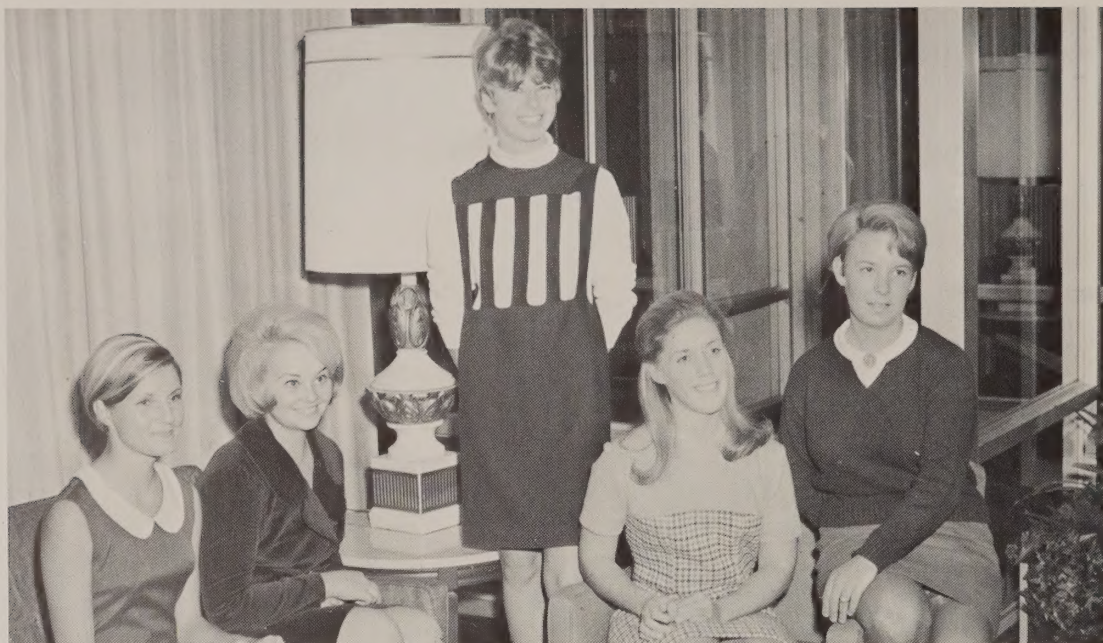

Of our pride, of our trust, V. I. love us forever.

"Stirred up with high hopes of living to be brave men and worthy patriots, dear to God,
and famous to all ages."

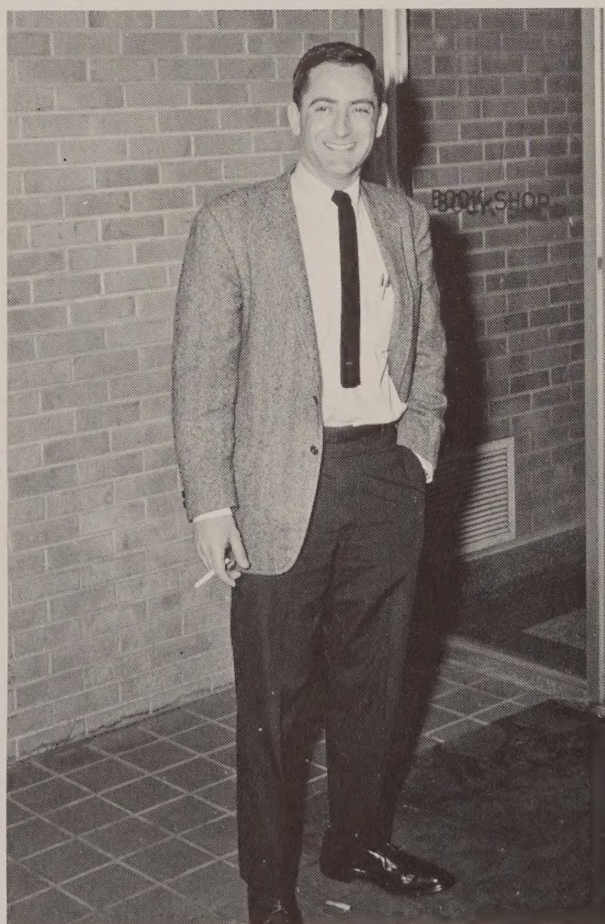

John Milton

Leslie Chapman acknowledges an ovation for the freshman Song Contest presentation.

The college home for many freshmen is the freshman dormitory complex.

Freshman Proclamation Song

In the fall of the year, when the leaves were brown,
And our minds were aglow with new dreams,
Our hearts felt the strain of a thousand wings
As we entered the gates of great things.

With honor we'll live,
By truth we'll abide,
And with guidance learn the way
To being the finest children of Thee
Our college V. I. C.
Our college V. I. C.

Sow a seed and earth will yield
A flower for our hands to feel
To learn the truth of knowledge
We will find the greatness of our ideals.

The sun will bring our flower forth
Into a precious glowing torch.
The key, the book, the golden rule
Will turn us toward the road of our dreams.

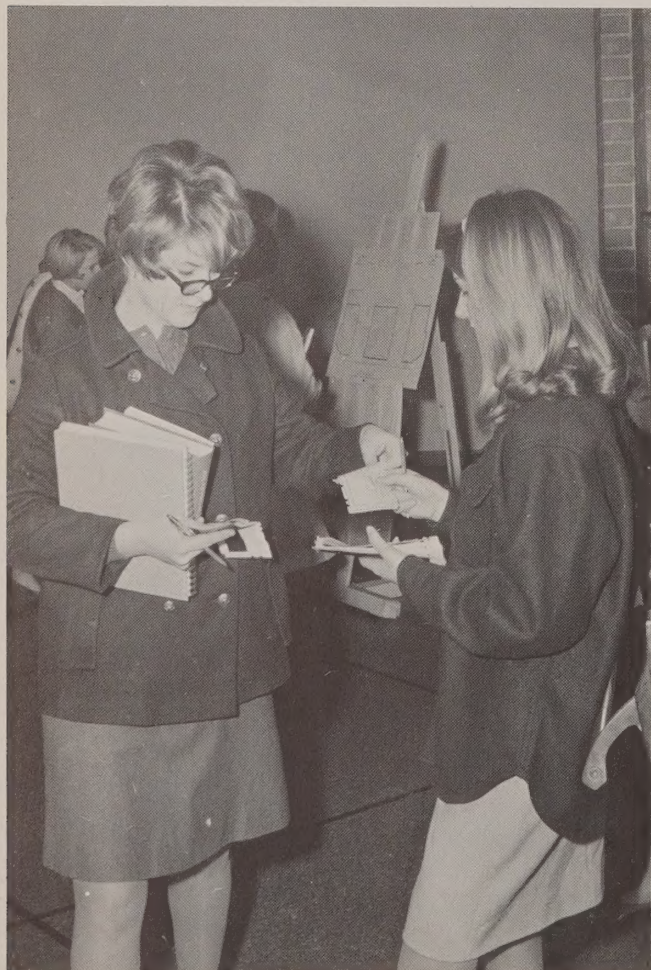

After dinner discussions at the White House couldn't be any more important than the one Sharon Simons, Gail Limburg, Leslie Mc Grale, M. J. Ross, and Mary Foley are having.

Who says there's anything funny about a fire drill at this hour?

... And then there's that one day it snowed at V. I. and Becky Maupin and Gay Bailey made a snowman out of Judy Craddock.

Donna Woodworth can't seem to decide which class card to present to Maggie Hubbard at the Humanities Series.

Tired feet don't hinder smiles as Sue Hall, Linda Young, Betty Payne, Becky Cole and their escorts chat at the Sweetheart Dance.

"Dale, are you sure your grandmother will like the length?"

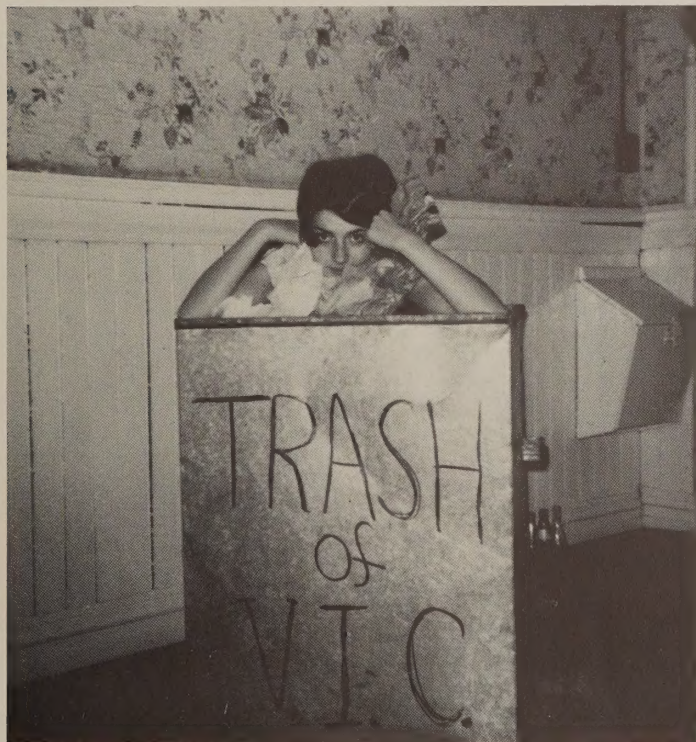

Why couldn't Rousseau have written "Le Contrat social" in English?

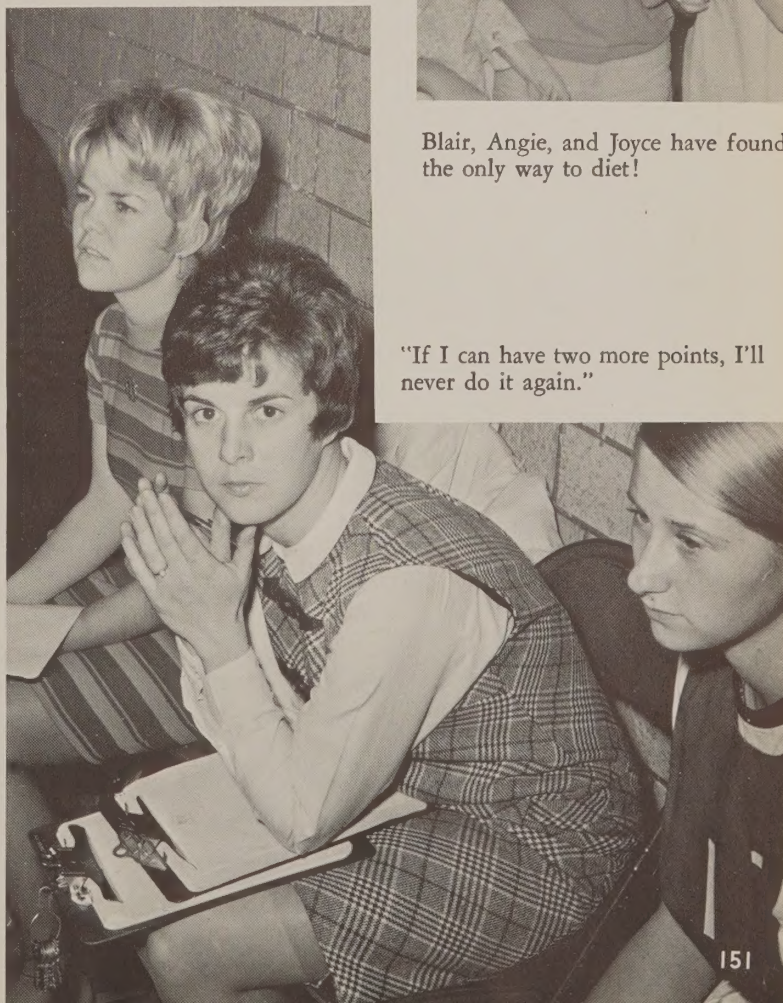

But Jody, there must be a better way to spend Saturday night.

Blair, Angie, and Joyce have found the only way to diet!

It must have been the thought of one of Mr. T's tests that drove Shirley Jewell into hiding.

"If I can have two more points, I'll never do it again."

"I vow to thee, my country—all earthly things above—
Entire and whole and perfect, the service of my love."

The Student Government Association, composed of all students on campus, has a representative body of fifty-two members with its sponsor, Miss Peggy Hart. Initially this body introduced "The Year of the Patriot" as the theme for 1967-68 and proposed construction of a coffee house for all college students of the area.

Presenting a revised structure this year, the Executive Council added the office of Judicial Coordinator to its membership. In addition, twelve new standing committees were created with an appointed chairman at the head of each. As always, each hall was represented by a hall president, but for the first time resident assistants were given voting privileges.

Even more active than in previous years, this year's S.G.A. began its year by helping in freshman orientation and by initiating "Dink Day" to replace "Rat Week." It sent representatives to the fall and winter conferences of Virginia Association of Student Governments at the University of Virginia and the spring convention at Virginia Polytechnic Institute.

Religious Planning Board

Seated: Betsy Cassell, Antoinette Stewart, Jeanne Chunn.
Standing: Gail Norman, Thelma Sanders, Mrs. Willet, Joan Baptist, Patricia Bowman.

Consisting of students who have shown leadership ability in religious activities on campus, the Religious Planning Board achieved unity among six religious organizations. The group's activities included dormitory devotional programs each Monday night and a steak dinner each month for all girls on campus with birthdays in that month. The purpose of these birthday dinners was to enhance fellowship and to promote unity among all V. I. girls.

At Christmas time, the Board sponsored the annual Christmas party, complete with Santa and reindeer for the underprivileged children of the area. Each child present had been adopted for the day by a student who helped Santa make sure there were gifts for all.

In February, during the Appalachian Preaching Mission, the Board was in charge of campus publicity for the Mission and was host at a reception following Youth Night. Many enjoyed the lively discussion led by professional football players Bill Curry of the Baltimore Colts and Carroll Dale of the Green Bay Packers.

Wesley Foundation

There seems to be plenty of food available as the girls and their church parents enjoy the Christmas dinner.

Composed of Methodist students on campus, the Wesley Foundation serves as a link between the church and college life. With Miss Anne Brooks as its advisor, the Foundation has spent a busy year repeating traditional activities and testing new ideas. In one program series Miss Vanthana Nitisalsip of Thailand spoke to the group on Buddhism, comparing the beliefs and practices of her religion with Protestantism. In addition to sponsoring the bimonthly communion services and the dinner for affiliate church parents, several of the members were invited to Emory and Henry to present a devotional program after which a similar program was given at V. I. by the Emory Foundation.

Episcopal students on campus compose the Canterbury Club. The group sponsored several communion services during the Christmas season and during Lent. Peanut Week, a traditional week of secret pal fun, was sponsored by the Canterbury Club in February and served to build new friendships among the students.

Rev. Smith leads an informal discussion with members of the club.

Baptist Student Union

Patti Pulliam, Pat Traughber, Susan Alligood, Bev Whaley, and Margaret Burnett filled stockings for the Christmas party at the Tri-State Children's Home.

The Baptist Student Union is an organization that serves as a link between the college and the church. It provides Baptist college students with an opportunity for Christian fellowship, fun, and spiritual growth.

Early in the fall the group enjoyed a picnic at Steele Creek Park. At a Christmas party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Styles, sponsors, B.S.U. girls filled stockings with fruit, candy and toys which they presented to children at the Tri-State Children's Home.

Among the guest speakers who appeared at dinner meetings were Rev. Bill Lawson, minister from Texas, and Bill Jenkins, head of the Virginia Baptist Student Department.

In the fall and spring several members attended B.S.U. conventions at Eagle Eyrie, Virginia.

Newman Club

Linda DiFillippantonio and Mary Ann Turner become teachers-for-a-day as they entertain the children of St. Anne's Parish.

The Newman Club is composed of the Catholic students on campus. It is closely affiliated with Saint Anne's Catholic Church.

One of its projects was the care of the church nursery during Sunday services. The club also presented a Hootenanny Mass at the parish church. Campus activities of the club included a Christmas mass which was open to all students with full explanation for non-Catholics.

Westminster Fellowship

Westminster Fellowship members make plans for their spring retreat.

A religious organization for Presbyterian students, Westminster Fellowship endeavors to strengthen the fellowship among its members.

Early in the fall Dr. Gibboney, Pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, Bristol, Tennessee, visited the campus to talk with the Presbyterian girls. In November King College students were invited to a dinner meeting, and interesting discussions followed.

Antoinette Stewart participated, at the beginning of the new year, in Student Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church. Toward the end of the year, plans were made for a spring retreat.

United Religious Association

Pat Bowman, president, and Mrs. Bryson, advisor, look over an idea for a U.R.A. program.

Seated: Lisa Weihe, Pat Bowman, Jennifer Jung.
Standing: Lu Thien Chan, Cathy Kern, Jane Miley.

An organization of fellowship for those denominations not represented on campus, the U.R.A. welcomed speakers of various faiths to their meetings. Reverend Rendleman from the Lutheran Church spoke about the importance of youth and how they contribute to society. Our exchange students, Lu Thien Chan from South Viet Nam and Vanthana Nitasalsip from Thailand, explained their religion of Buddhism. Two Mormon missionaries narrated a film concerning their religion and pastors from the Missouri Synod Lutheran Church related their religious ideas.

The U.R.A. joined with the B.S.U. to present a Christmas party at the Tri-State Children's Home. The year was completed with the election of new officers and a picnic at Steele Creek Park.

Cothurnus

Tawny Anderson, Laura Burnett, and Carolyn Johnson initiate plans for the 1967-68 Cothurnus.

The editorial staff of Cothurnus had three major objectives in planning the two editions of this year's literary magazine: improvement of content, addition of variety, dignity of appearance. As these goals were attained, the winter edition of the magazine evolved. The staff had urged students to take a rational approach to the theme that they thought characterized our generation — "Terrible Emptiness." The response was encouraging as poems, essays, and short stories were turned in for perusal.

The first issue of Cothurnus became a reality in February, and the readers' response was so enthusiastic that three of the poems were submitted for possible publication in the literary magazine of Wesleyan University.

In May another issue became a reality, and students eagerly engrossed themselves in their friends' interpretation of "What I Have Learned from Life." Along with the attainment of these objectives, everyone was proud of the dignified appearance which Laura Burnett's artistic representation of the themes gave the 1967-68 Cothurnus.

TELL ME

Tell me of life, for I am young
And wish to know.

You, young boy with no beard,
Tell me of life, for I am old
And wish to remember.

The Cauldron

In an effort to keep students well informed of all school events, the campus newspaper, The Cauldron, is published monthly from October to May. The Cauldron strives to capture the "mind" and "age" of the academic, athletic, and social life as well as the character of V. I. itself. Not only is The Cauldron sent to all V. I. students, but at least a thousand are sent to prospective students all over the United States.

In addition to the demanding task of publishing a monthly paper, The Cauldron staff also sponsors the "Best Dressed Contest" on campus in the winter. In the spring the staff is a co-sponsor of Publications Weekend.

Throughout a year when many new ideas were introduced under the theme "The Year of the Patriot," the yearbook staff sought to make these ideas more evident in the 1968 Intermont. In the process of accumulating pictures and copy which could express the theme, the staff members gained valuable experiences in relations with the faculty, administration, and fellow students.

Of course the inevitable deadlines brought the usual confusion, tears and threats but when the job was finished the staff was well satisfied with its expression of "The Year of the Patriot." Not only was the staff involved in meeting Taylor's deadlines, but in conjunction with other literary staffs, they co-sponsored Publications Weekend in April.

Phi Beta

Phi Beta is a national professional music, speech, and drama fraternity. Virginia Intermont has the distinction of being one of only two junior colleges in the nation to have a chapter of Phi Beta. Its members are elected on the basis of professional ability and interest.

Phi Beta began its year's activities with the traditional Rush teas, followed by pledging and an initiation banquet. In November the fraternity co-sponsored Greek Weekend and in late spring a recital for the V. I. graduates. Other activities included providing music for dorm devotions, and programs for the Bristol Day Care Center and participation on the Orientation Week Talent Show.

Phi Theta Kappa

Some people just don't keep up with the fashion world as seen by the "up-to-date" dress of the Phi Theta pledges.

One of the four honor Greek organizations on campus, Phi Theta Kappa, offers membership in recognition for a 2.0 average. The fraternity is a junior college honor scholarship society which corresponds to Phi Beta Kappa. Membership in Phi Theta Kappa is the highest honor a student at Virginia Intermont can receive for overall academic excellence. Sophomores with a 2.0 average are pledged early in the fall and the top five freshmen are pledged in February. A candlelight service was held to initiate pledging sophomores and in March the members participated in a clothing drive for the Salvation Army.

Phi Rho Pi

Phi Rho Pi, the honor forensic fraternity on campus began its busy year in October by attending the debate tournament at Maryville College. At that meet a freshman team, Beth Boyd and Martha King, received certificates as an outstanding team in the debates. During November, in addition to co-sponsoring Greek Weekend, the club competed in a tournament at Appalachian State Teachers College in which Linda Magnello won first place in Poetry Reading and Gail Limburg placed third in Dramatic Reading. March 8-9, 1968, Phi Rho Pi sponsored V. I.'s Debate Tournament followed by the awards banquet.

Delta Psi Omega is a National Honor Drama Fraternity for those who participate in and promote drama activities. Any student who contributes to V. I. productions—stage crew, props, acting, lighting, publicity, costuming or makeup—is eligible for membership.

V. I.'s first "Greek Weekend" was sponsored this year by Delta Psi and the other honor fraternities to publicize the membership of working fraternities. The Showmen concert and dance with the Drifters were very successful.

Trips in conjunction with the Intermont Players were planned to the Olde West Dinner Theatre and Barter Theatre. Delta Psi worked with the college drama club to produce such plays as "Period of Adjustment," "Sorry Wrong Number," "Hello from Bertha," "The Stronger," and "Winnie the Pooh."

Ellen Worthy and Ed Smith, the stars of "Period of Adjustment," seem to be getting professional advice from Mr. Beyer, the Cecil B. DeMille of V. I.

Members of the Virginia Intermont Chorus lead children from the Bristol Girls' Club in "Jingle Bells."

Ellen H. Richards Home Economics Club

In many varied activities, the Home Economics Club sought to promote the high ideals of womanhood and to create an active interest in worthwhile community projects. The fall and winter programs included a "get-acquainted tea," a Christmas party for the Bristol Girls' Club, and a guest speaker from Delta Airlines, former V. I. student Mrs. Peggy O'Dell Bolen.

In the spring, guests and their topics included Miss Maiden, "Retailing," Mrs. Gutley, "Interior Design," and Mrs. Disney who described her own hobby of making shoes, and umbrellas to match her clothes. The year's list of programs ended with the annual favorite, the picnic at Miss Fortune's home.

International Relations Club

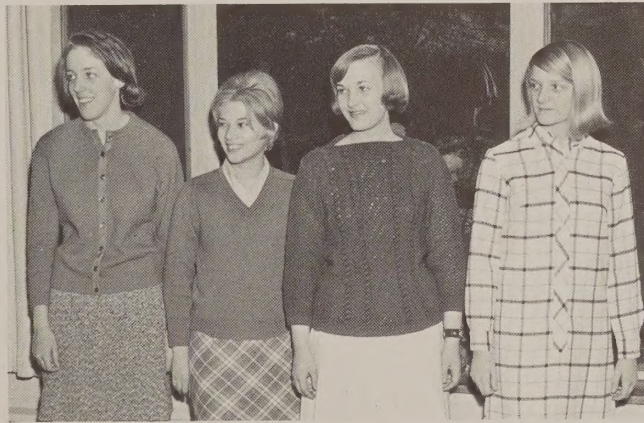

Monthly dinner meetings with guest speakers proved to be thought-provoking.

The International Relations Club strives to arouse interest in history and in current events. Monthly meetings made the members more aware of emerging African nations as they listened to a guest speaker from Nigeria. The attention of the group was focused on internal matters in the February meeting as the V. I. debate team chose the topic "Resolved that there should be a minimum wage in the U.S." Later in the month, members journeyed to Emory and Henry for a joint meeting with the International Relations Club of that college.

In May the International Relations Club concluded the year's activities with a banquet. Its theme was "War and Peace."

Virginia Intermont Players assist in all major theatrical productions. During the fall two such productions were "Period of Adjustment" and "Children's Hour." Three one-act, student directed plays, "Hello from Bertha," "The Stronger," and "Sorry, Wrong Number," were presented.

Virginia Intermont Players also assisted in Dogwood Players' productions and worked lights for humanities concerts and for the Bristol Concert Choir. Many of the girls, as members of Delta Psi Omega, contributed to the success of Greek Week-end.

As a member of the Southeastern Theatre Conference, the organization sent Babs Mulvey and Leslie Fry as delegates to the conference in 1966. This conference met in Atlanta March 1-3.

Spring plans included a picnic at Averett's Falls and a club banquet at the end of the year.

Spanish Club

Guest speakers highlighted the events of the Spanish Club this year. Aidita Lopez discussed her native land, Puerto Rico, and Mrs. S. Bruce Jones illustrated her travels in Spain with slides.

A program of Spanish folk songs, slides of Guatemalan weaving, carving and percussion instruments, and a discussion of Columbus Day by Blair Wielkopolski were presented at various meetings.

The Christmas season was celebrated with a Mexican pinata and a discussion by Janet Jeanes, incoming president of the club, of Spanish and Latin American Christmas and New Year's customs.

The year's activities ended with a club picnic.

Students From Abroad

For the first time in several years, Virginia Intermont students have had the opportunity to become acquainted with ten students from other countries.

These students have provided many interesting programs and activities for various campus clubs, which gave the members an insight into customs and ideas different from their own.

Of special interest, both politically and culturally, were our three friends from Vietnam and Thailand who shared their knowledge of Southeast Asia.

Sirens blew and fire alarms sounded as the fire wardens at V. I. participated in Fire Prevention Week. They sponsored the familiar fire drills and a lecture by retiring chief of the Bristol Fire Department, Chief Hugh Worley, on fire hazards. This year's fire wardens representing each hall and under the leadership of Gay Bailey also participated in a Christmas dinner honoring Mr. Roberts and Mrs. Atwell, the club's sponsors.

V. I. Fire Chief Gay Bailey implores students to clear the dorms faster next time.

Here! shouts the gang from sixth Intermont as dormitory roll call is conducted.

Nostrae Filiae

Composed of daughters and granddaughters of former Virginia Intermont students, Nostrae Filiae joined with the Alumnae Association in sponsoring Alumnae Weekend.

Members of the club served as guides for guests on campus. They also sponsored a dormitory display contest which was won by Diane de Victoria of Hodges Hall.

Nostrae Filiae concluded the year's activities with a picnic.

Diane deVictoria, Westwood, New Jersey, designed the prize winning display for the 1967-68 Alumni Weekend.

Kneeling: Nora Jean Carrier, S.G.A. representative; Patty Mason, A.A. representative; Leslie Owen, secretary-treasurer; Linda Saul, vice-president. Standing: Linda Sampson, president.

Areannes is the club composed of day students at Virginia Intermont. They formed the committee that greeted boarding students and welcomed them to V. I. and helped the Student Government Association sponsor the orientation mixer.

Fellowship within the club was emphasized as the group enjoyed a Christmas party. In the spring freshman day students sponsored a fashion show with fashions from Bill King Clothiers. The club also enjoyed a party in the spring.

Freshman members served as ushers at graduation.

First row: Sandy Salyers, Linda Saul, Gail Horne, Donna Ringley, Ann Burke, Dottie Wilson, Lolly Anderson, Tawny Anderson, Patty Brooks, Patty Mason, Marie Nunley. Young Democrats

The student political groups on campus are always active but in the major election years, they tend to be even busier. In addition to debating with the International Relations Club on current political topics, the Young Democrats had as guest speakers at their meeting State Senator George Warren and State Representative Joseph J. Johnson, Jr.

In the November elections and again in the May balloting, the club worked in the Democratic headquarters in Bristol and helped the Party workers at the Burley Tobacco Festival in Abingdon.

Seated: Linda Donkervoet, treasurer; Charlene Overstreet, president; Elaine Altizer, secretary. Standing: Nora Jean Carrier; Jody Kurz, vice-president; Daphne West; Sylvia Sharkey.

Young Republicans

The Young Republicans, open to all students on campus interested in the political affairs of the G.O.P., began its activities with a picnic at Emory and Henry in September, followed by a "mixer" at the University of Virginia. Later in the fall, the club traveled to the State Young Republican's Convention at Old Point Comfort, Virginia, and heard Senator Howard Baker and Senator Mark Hatfield speak.

In March the club attended the Region III convention in Staunton, Virginia, and had as a guest speaker on campus Mr. Nick Bollman who spoke on "Political Apathy on Campus." The busy year ended with a spring hayride with students from Emory and Henry.

Newly elected A.A. officers for the year '67-'68 pose for their first picture at the annual Athletic Association picnic.

Athletic Association

The main purpose of the Athletic Association is to promote school spirit. Competition is the basis for this spirit as demonstrated early in the year by Song Contest competition.

Intramural sports, consisting of speedball, volleyball, basketball, table tennis, and shuffleboard, badminton, tennis and softball, were sponsored both semesters.

A.A. also co-ordinates Orchesis, H₂O Club, Boots and Saddle, and the cheerleaders.

At the banquet on May 10 new officers were announced, along with the new councils. Individual awards and the dorm trophy were presented.

President, Barbara Waddington
Vice-President, Dell McGee
Secretary-Treasurer, Beth Owen

H₂O Club

In the early fall one of the most active clubs on campus is the aquatic club, the H₂O. Officers of the club instruct girls interested in membership in the basic skills of water ballet. Each girl must then execute a ballet leg, back dolphin, surface dive, rhythmic swimming, and a standing front dive before she is accepted.

After semester break the girls worked intently for the 1968 water show, "Dream Drops," given on February 22, 23, and 24. Planning numbers, preparing costumes and scenery kept all the girls in the show occupied.

Shows also were presented during Parents' Weekend and Graduation Week.

The annual party weekend given by Mrs. Donald Smith, club sponsor, was held early in the spring.

Orchesis

Orchesis, the modern dance company on campus, strives for creative student participation as it offers other Virginia Inter-mont students an exciting program of dance in the annual orchesis show. Tryouts for the prized membership in this club, which are held in the fall and again after Christmas vacation, are followed by long hours of practice as the girls choreograph and costume the entire show. In addition to the spring production "It's the Style '68" Orchesis also participated in Parents' Weekend and graduation activities.

Betsy Smotherman strikes a playful pose during rehearsal for "It's the Style '68."

Molly Gregson seems to be having trouble getting the idea of contraction across to Kathy Dedrick.

Boots and Saddle Club

Pat McCaleb, treasurer; Judy McClanahan, president; Janet Christy, vice president; Margie Hensley, secretary; and Becky Maupin, publicity chairman pose at the Christmas party.

Promoting enthusiasm and fun among riding students who love horses is the main objective of the Boots and Saddle Club, one of the largest clubs on campus. Its activities included participation in two horse shows, a gymkhana featuring fun and games on horseback, a Christmas party with lively entertainment, and a spring banquet. The club also sponsored a trip to the Kentucky Derby. The Horse Show, held Graduation Week, combined hunt and saddle-seat riders for equitation classes and for such varied events as a pair class and a precision drill team.

Jean Fisher and Jennie Johnson presented an exotic dance, "An Arabian Dream," at the 1967 spring banquet.

Basketball Team

Despite the fact that the record reflects somewhat less than a winning season, the girls on the basketball squad played hard and enjoyed a year of keen competition.

Tennis Team

One of the surest indications that spring is near is the Virginia Intermont tennis team. On the first warm days, the girls are out on the court serving and smashing in preparation for intercollegiate matches with Sullins, Emory & Henry, Averett and King.

Captained by Delores Reynolds, with three returning varsity members, the tennis team should build a good season's record.

Swim Team

Composed of accomplished swimmers and divers, the Virginia Inter-mont Swim Team enjoyed a moderately successful year.

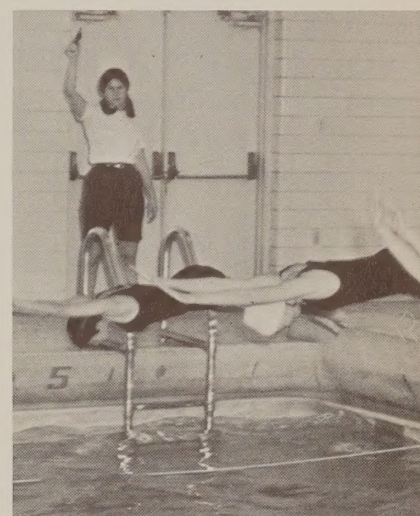

Many new prospects appeared from the freshman class, so the outlook is especially bright for winning season next year.

Volleyball Team

V. I.'s volleyball team was rated as successful when it brought home the trophy from the V. I.-Sullins Volleyball Play Day. Other games with Emory were not as successful, and V. I. finished the year with three wins and three losses. Nevertheless, team members learned valuable lessons in sportsmanship and enjoyed the thrill of competition.

With the addition of eight new stalls, expansion of tack room space, and improvement of the ring, Virginia Intermont riding students began the year enthusiastically.

On September 23 six riders participated in a local horse show sponsored by the Episcopal Church. Susan Adams received a first place ribbon and a trophy for her performance in the Saddle Seat Equitation Class. Martha Epperson won a first place ribbon and a trophy in the Pony Hunter Hack Class and a third place ribbon in the Pleasure Pony Class.

In the Pleasure Horse Class Margie Hensley received a first place ribbon and a trophy, and in the Hunter Seat Equitation Class she won a third place ribbon.

Pat McCaleb, in the Ladies' Pleasure Horse Class, received a first place ribbon and a trophy; and in the Saddle Seat Equitation Class, a fourth place ribbon.

On October 21 eight V. I. riders took part in a 4-H horse show at Sullins College. In the Virginia Intermont Hunt Seat Equitation Class the blue ribbon went to Fran Asp, 1967 president of the Boots and Saddle Club, with Margie Hensley placing second.

Chris Dauchy won a first place ribbon and a trophy in the Trail Class, and Gay Dalton received a first place ribbon and a trophy in the Saddle Seat Equitation Class.

In November the annual V. I. gymkhana provided pleasure for both riders and spectators. The three-legged race, musical sacks, and high chapeau elicited an enthusiastic response from the spectators.

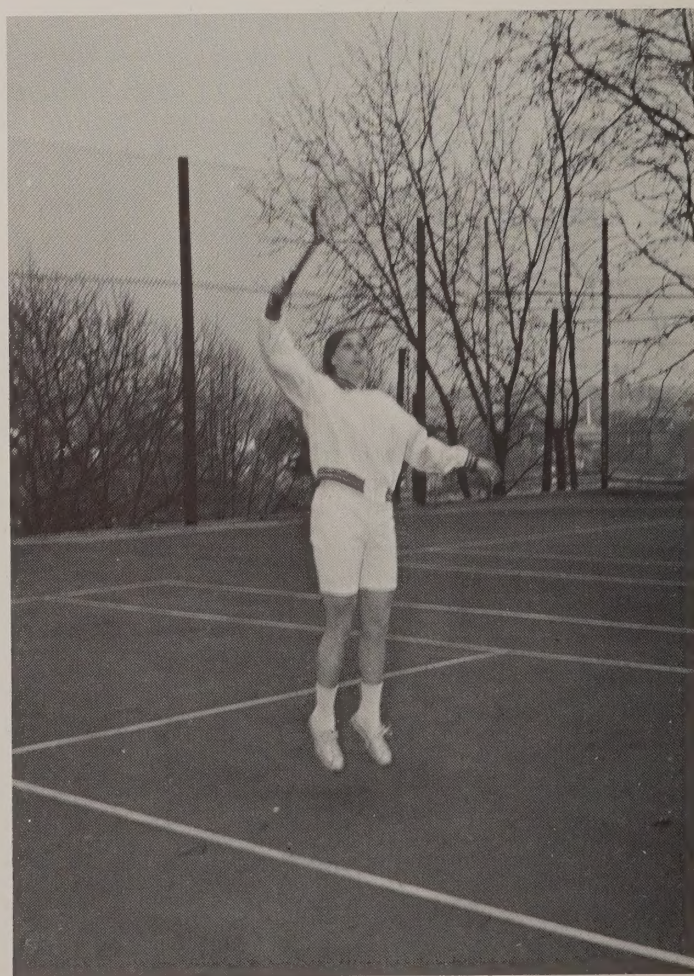

The finale for the year was the V. I. horse show. An impressive number on the program was the drill team composed of advanced riding students. The highlight of the show was the awarding of the Challenge Trophy to the winner of the Hunt Seat and Saddle Seat Classes and a trophy to the winner of the Pair Class.

A crisp fall day is ideal for a game of speedball.

4-6 Intermont seems determined to win the speedball trophy.

Hit it Boston!

Intramurals

The intramural program, sponsored by the Athletic Association, was designed to promote competition among the dormitories.

The program was changed slightly this year with the first Monday and Wednesday at the beginning of each sport being free days. During these days students were given opportunities to become acquainted with the game.

Under the direction of Marilyn Mahoney speedball proved to be an exciting fall sport. The winner of the speedball tournament was 4-6 Intermont.

Carolyn Novak served as chairman for volleyball. This tournament also was won by 4-6 Intermont.

Under the direction of Linda Montgomery basketball proved to be one of the most exciting fall and winter sports.

At the end of the year trophies were presented to the winning dorms and girls who qualified received letters.

Cheerleaders

The campus certainly would have lacked important school spirit had it not been for the efforts of the seven girls who made up the squad of cheerleaders. In the fall girls from both classes tried out before the old cheerleaders and a faculty committee. The work, however, didn't stop with the selection. Many hours of practice resulted in perfection of the cheers used at basketball, hockey and volleyball games and swim meets.

The captain of the squad serves as a member of the Athletic Association.

The outside world awaits.

Haight-Ashbury?

At the Sweetheart Dance the purple haze fell—but good.

Once upon a time we wanted to be beautiful.

No freshman will ever forget dink day.

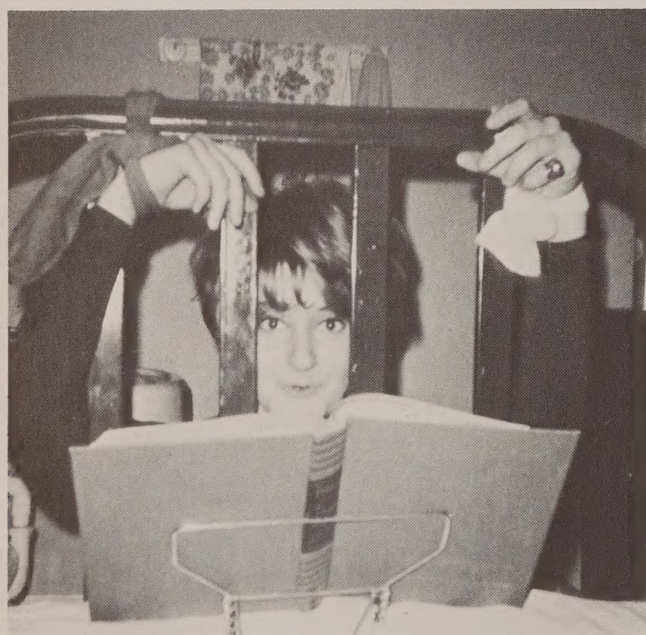

Francy and her tootsie pop

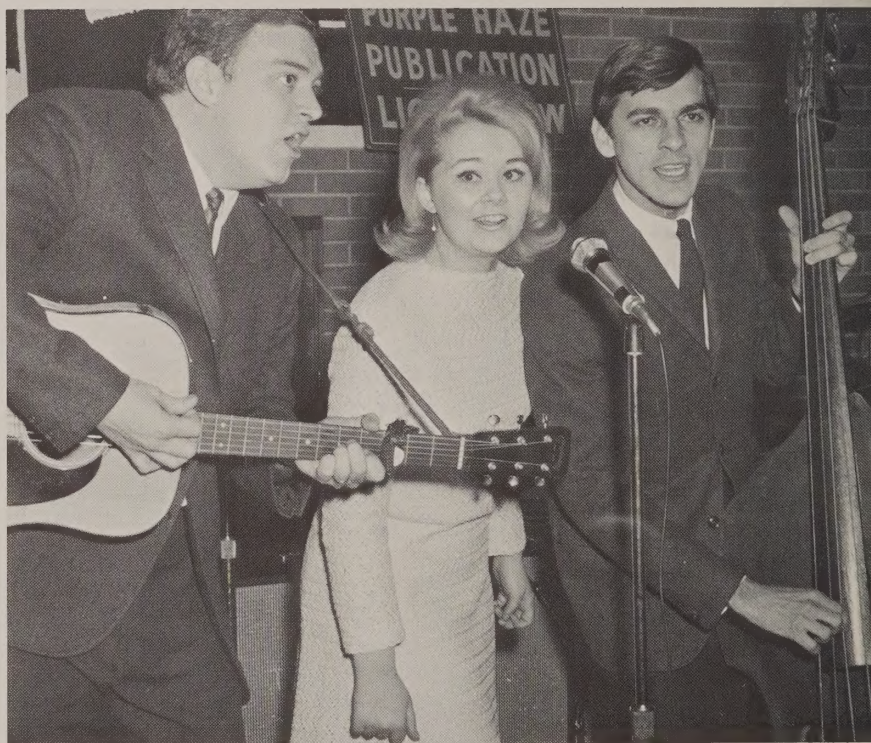

No, Betsy. You still have to be in by 12:00.

Maybe they're planning basketball strategy???

These are the times that try men's souls.

Famous they're not, but they do make nice sounds.

For a little while, this was home—

Do You Remember . . .

When we met our Little Sisters?

Christmas parties at V.I.?

The business-like hall meetings?

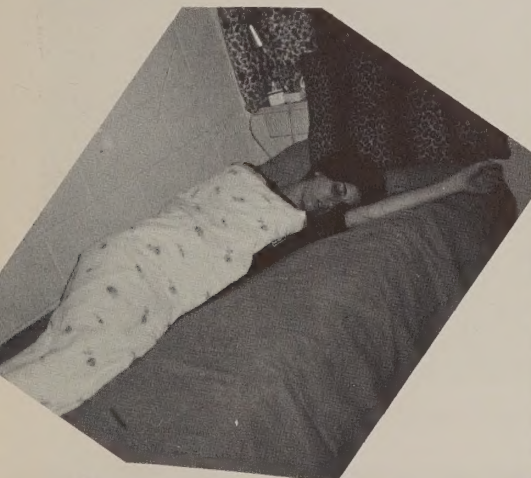

When we were "femme fatales"?

The total effect of a Bristol boy?

Our majors?

The routine for the night before an English exam?

Those water battles?

Playing "dress-up" for the Halloween party?

How cool the fountain was?

Who won the "Tug of War"?

That 4th Hodges is so cool it isn't even fair?

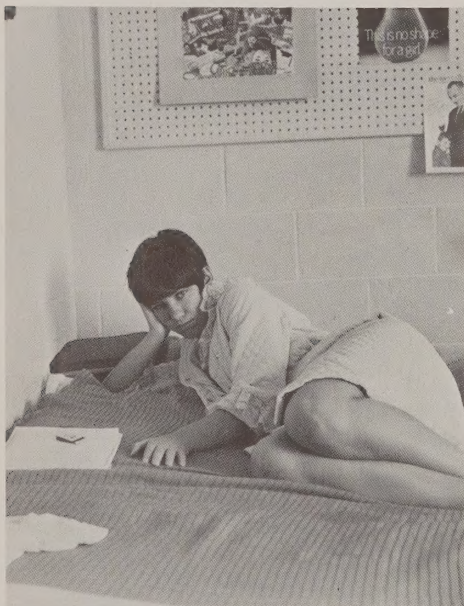

Get a load of this, Shelton.

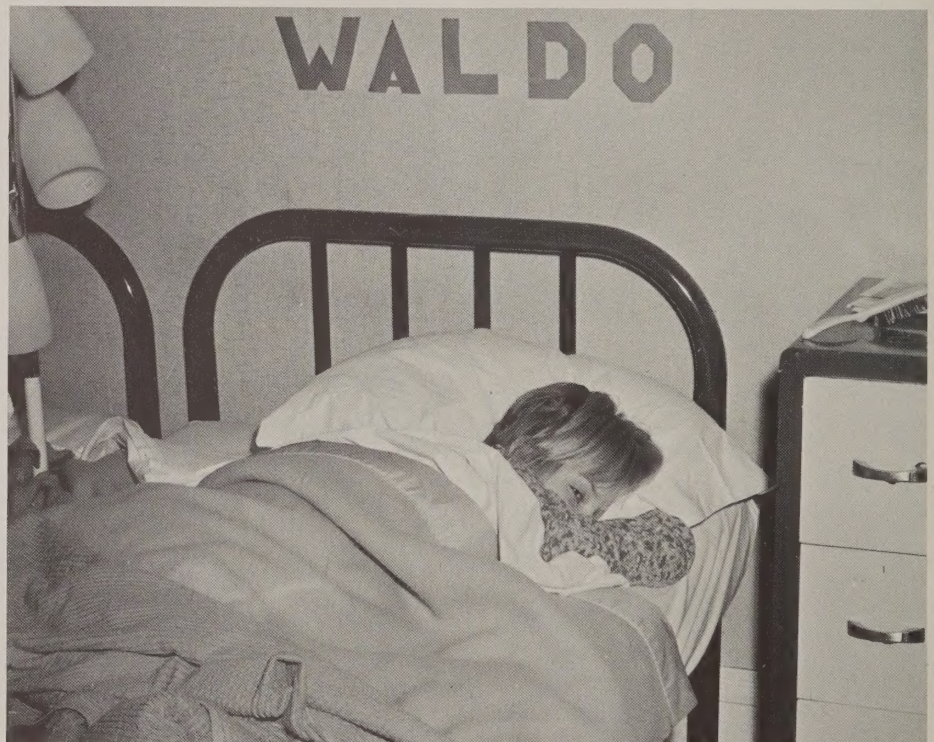

Do you really think we've captured the Russian look?

For some, Mark Eden really works.

Come on, Sue, rationalize.

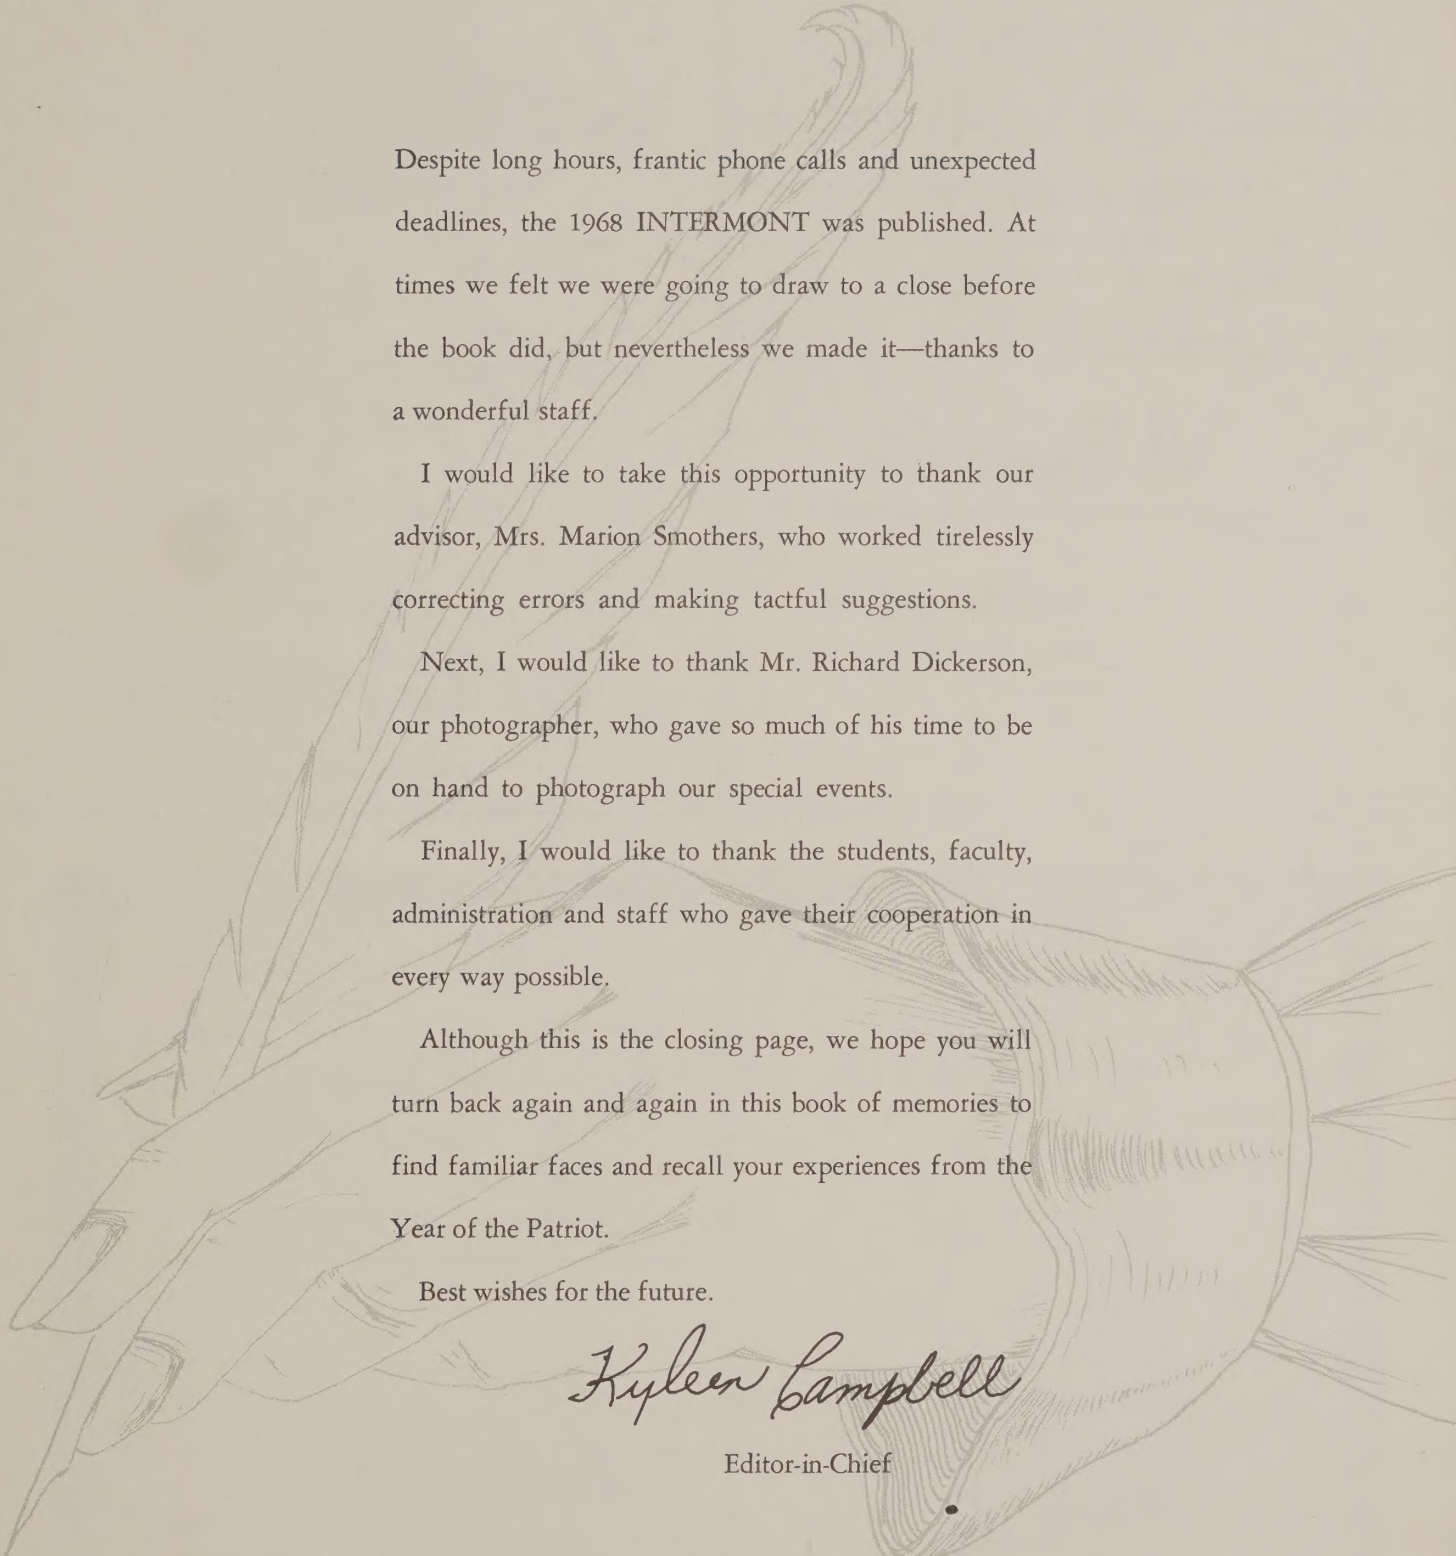

If you think I'm getting up for Mrs. Smothers' English class . . .

Now me, I'm a ladies' man.

Happiness is March 1.

Despite long hours, frantic phone calls and unexpected deadlines, the 1968 INTERMONT was published. At times we felt we were going to draw to a close before the book did, but nevertheless we made it—thanks to a wonderful staff.

I would like to take this opportunity to thank our advisor, Mrs. Marion Smothers, who worked tirelessly correcting errors and making tactful suggestions.

Next, I would like to thank Mr. Richard Dickerson, our photographer, who gave so much of his time to be on hand to photograph our special events.

Finally, I would like to thank the students, faculty, administration and staff who gave their cooperation in every way possible.

Although this is the closing page, we hope you will turn back again and again in this book of memories to find familiar faces and recall your experiences from the Year of the Patriot.

Best wishes for the future.
